

Learn ways to reduce erosion on your backyard stream.

FREE TO THE PUBLIC! Learn about the benefits of stream buffers, common streambank plants and small-scale solutions to reduce erosion.

Photo © Alan Cressler

American Black Elderberry (Sambucus nigra)

Photo © Jon Calabria

Silky Dogwood (Cornus amomum)

Photo © David Emmitt

Common Ninebark (Physocarpus opulifolius)

Photo © Will Cook

Silky Willow (Salix sericea)

FREE BUFFER KIT TO FIRST 50 RESPONDENTS!
(Includes 20 live stakes that will bloom into streambank protecting plants as pictured.)

BACKYARD BUFFERS PROGRAM

March 15 at 6:00 p.m.

Randolph County Cooperative Extension
112 W. Walker Avenue
Asheboro, NC

CALL 336-318-6000 TO REGISTER

March 22 at 10:00 a.m.

Alamance County Cooperative Extension
209-C N. Graham-Hopedale Road
Burlington, NC

CALL 336-570-6740 TO REGISTER

March 22 at 6:00 p.m.

Guilford County Cooperative Extension
3309 Burlington Road
Greensboro, NC

CALL 336-375-5876 TO REGISTER

March 31 at 10:00 a.m.

Historic Bethabara Park Welcome Center
2147 Bethabara Road
Winston-Salem, NC

CALL 336-703-2850 TO REGISTER

Program funded by The Piedmont Triad Water Quality Partnership in cooperation with NC Cooperative Extension and Soil and Water Conservation Districts in Alamance, Forsyth, Guilford and Randolph counties.